SPECIFIC SPELLING FEATURES IN FOCUS

---

by Mark Hale, IM

SHOE.

*My shoe is shaped like a racing car,
Without any wheels or a bumper bar;
The foothole is just like a cockpit,
Even though you can't see over the top bit.
Each day the engine hops inside,
With five-toe power to make it stride.*

D. ROONEY, Form I Maroon

Reading tests to find reading ages

The student must read the words in each group without hesitation and within 5 seconds. Corrections are not accepted. Each error is deducted from the total score of 20.

Example: the total of the scores 20, 18, 14, 9, 3 is 64.

Half the score is 32. This translates to a reading age of 3rd grade, 2nd month.

Note: The counting of errors must be done without distracting the student.

DIAGNOSTIC READING TESTS (Lists 1-6 in story form).

1. Come here, look! One little baby bear is jumping up and down in its cage because it sees three little children play with a ball. It wants to run with them. Can it get out? No, it can't make it, and its mother won't help of course because yesterday, it ran away.

2. My friends had their first ride on horseback along the very dark and bumpy road up the hill where I live. On the way, they found a little pup asleep under a tree, next to a basket with dogfood. Of course they wished to know where it came from, why it was left there, and what had happened to its owner.

3. HIDE AND SEEK

The farmer's sheep slept under the stars in the large forest around the station. Then they had breakfast. Suddenly, it happened. A heavy looking wolf came by in the hope of finding something to eat for lunch, or better still, for brunch. However, the woolly bunch hid in the long grass in the field across the river as soon as they saw his fur the colour of liver. Since he chose to follow his nose, all he could do was to shiver when the water rose.

4. BOAT SMASH

He saw the waves destroy the rest of his boat and then set out to perform what was understood to be almost impossible: swimming against the stream of the empty ocean. His reward: safe on the stone bench in the little grove on this damp evening; too timid to even excuse the desire to pick a delicious looking apple to stave off his hunger.

5. THE PRICE TO PAY

If he was so serious, as he claimed, to harness the slumber, the silence and the dainty appearance of the vacant, speechless huts along the dreary common of this rain-swept distant region, he should, in future, let his anger melt like snowflakes in the midday sun and promptly develop, written on his forehead, courage!

6. The extended applause did not interfere with the obedient, but gracious dignity of the tailor's daughter who was sitting on a cushion on the terrace, in the fragrant haze of the jungle, in the presence of the wealthy merchant who, generally full of ambition, had arranged their profitable marriage according to a custom too difficult to define; the result of a different culture.

Days of the week

Monday (moon), Tuesday (Mars),
Wednesday (Woden, Viking god),
Thursday (Thor, Viking god of thunder),
Friday (Freyia, Viking goddess),
Saturday (named after the planet Saturn),
Sunday (named after the sun).

There are 52 weeks in a year.

A way to remember: 5 fingers, 2 hands.

The twelve months of the year

January (Janus, a head with 2 faces: one looking at the old year and one looking towards the new one),

February: 2nd month, 8 letters, 28 days=4x7 days.

March (Mars), April (from aprire, to open), May,

June, July (after Julius Caesar), August (after emperor Augustus), September (originally the 7th, now the 9th month), October (first 8, now 10), November (first 9, now 11), December (first 10, now 12)
