TO ALICE IN WONDERLAND

This book was written in the light of sun, by the shimmer of candle, of kero, to offer a glimmer of hope to the blind hero on the run; wandering and wondering whether life has gone past or not yet begun.

Schooling is compulsory.
However, you can take a horse to the water, but you can't make it drink.

THE GENTLE ART OF BREAKING IN...CHILDREN.

THEY ARE LIKE HORSES; THEY NEED REINS.

THE TWELVE COMMANDMENTS

FOR PARENTS AND TEACHERS

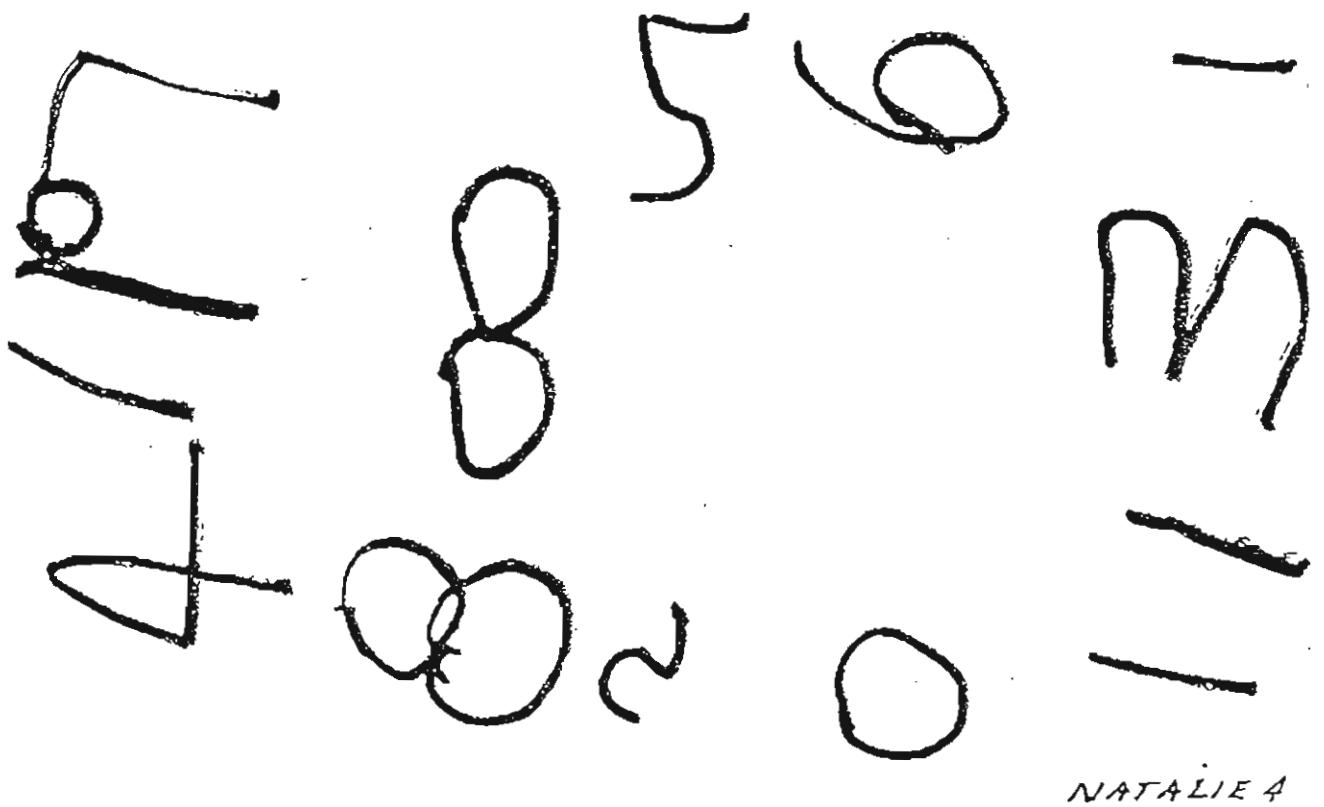

1. LET THE CHILDREN COME UNTO THEE
2. DON'T LET THEM GO EMPTY HANDED

3. COME UP TO THEIR LEVEL

4. WATCH THEM AROUND THE CLOCK

5. KEEP SOME CHALK FOR A RAINY DAY

6. TEACH BY EXAMPLE; DON'T TRAMPLE 8.

7. DON'T KNOCK THEM

8. ALLOW FREEDOM, BUT DON'T LET THEM TAKE OVER.

MNOPANGT

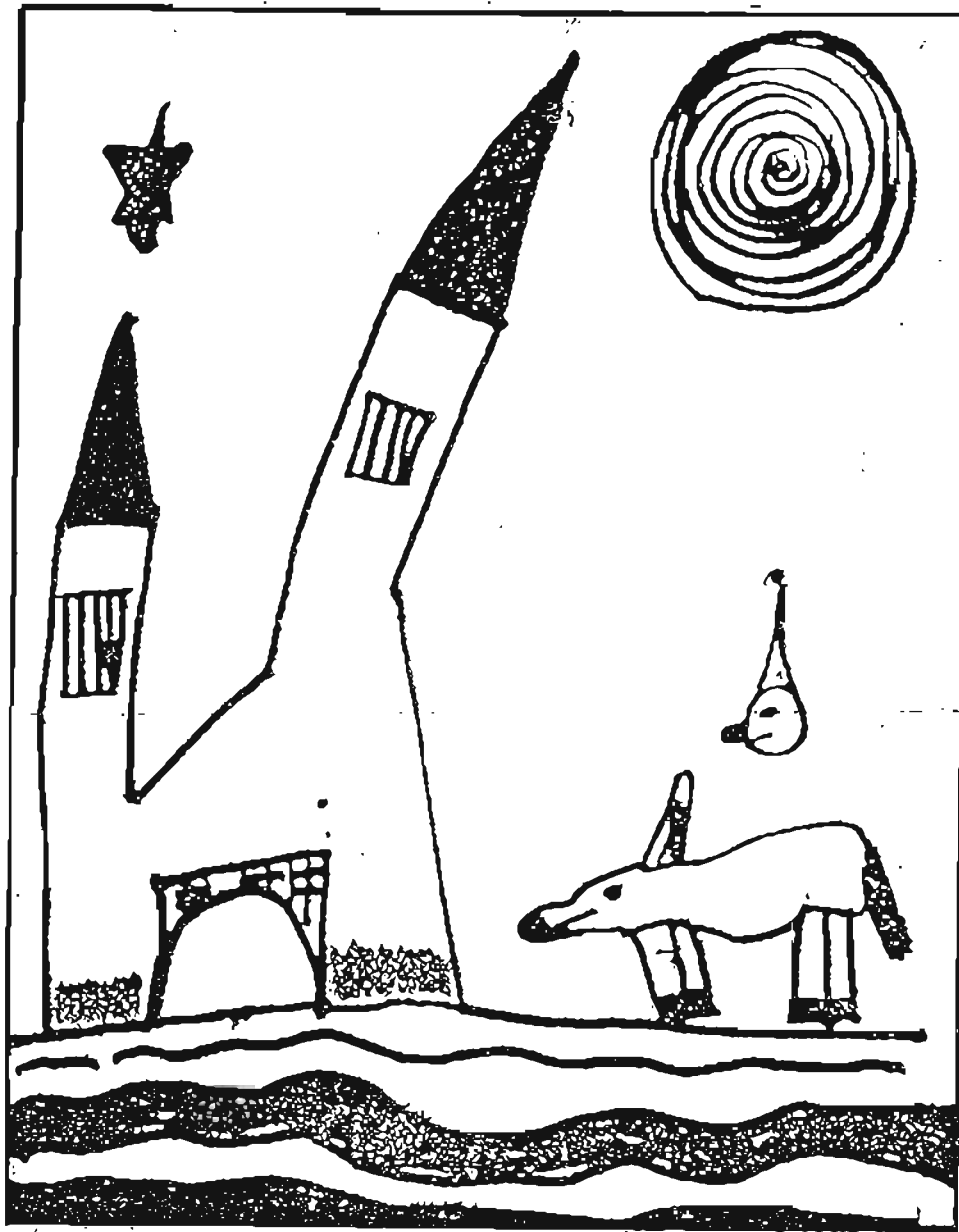

(A) NATALIE. 7.7.1982

9. DON'T LET THEM GET INTO YOUR HAIR

(A) NATALIE. 12.10.1984

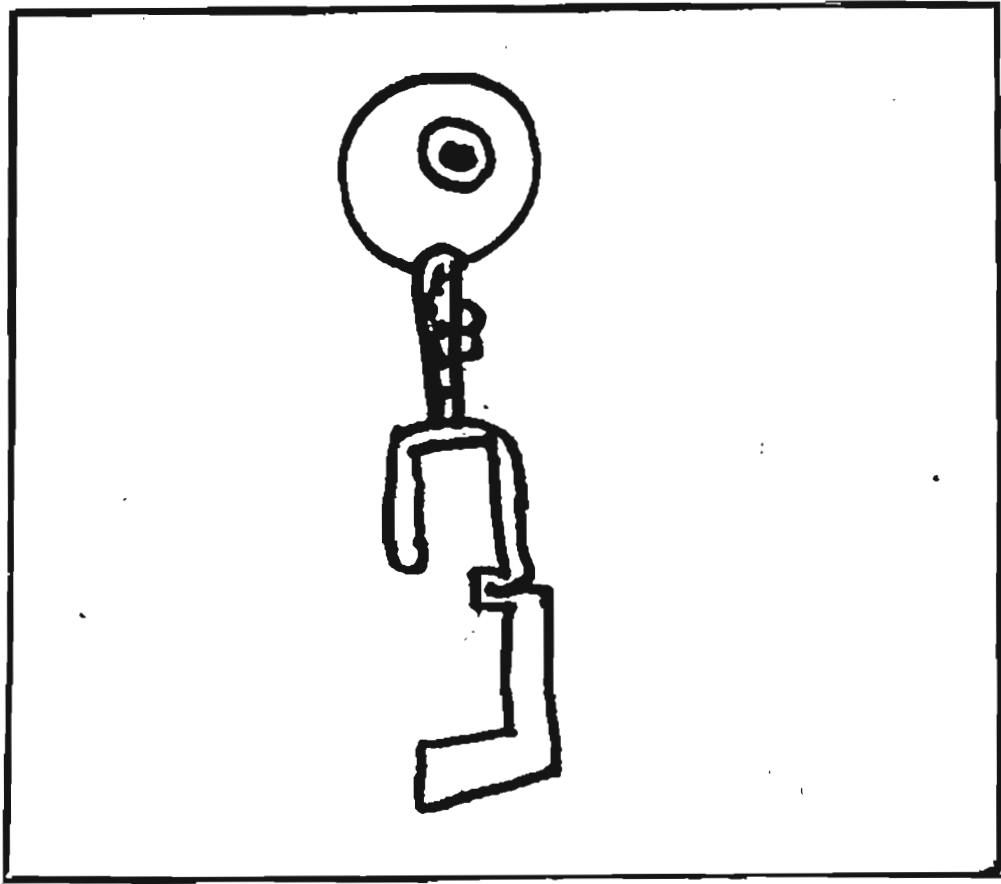

10. NEVER LOSE YOUR COOL

11. HOLD YOUR HORSE! WAIT TILL THEY LET YOU IN.

12. RELAX WITH 'FLAKE OUT'

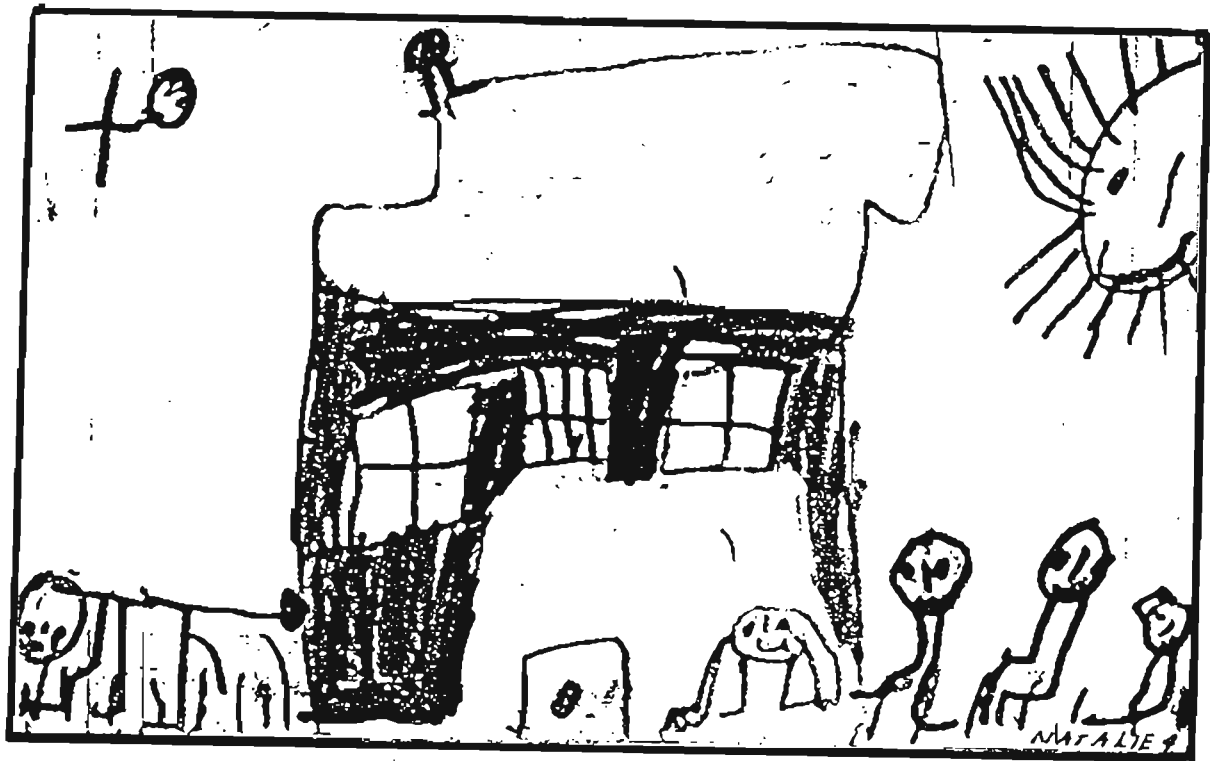

The key to learning:

INTEREST

Illustration for an old song

You Are My Sunshine,
My Only Sunshine.
You Make Me Happy
When Skies are Grey,
You'll Never Know Dear
How Much I Love You
So Please Don't Take My Sunshine Away.

BOATS GALORE BUT...

When his dinghy again was swept ashore, Simon Stingy swore to never buy a boat no more.

Heavy Meal: too early

Tom took a break for breakfast to eat his steak with potatoes and spinach. Now he has a stomach ache, so he has to go to the chemist instead of school.

The Beseecher

The leeches came up his breeches, so he climbed into the beeches where his screeches made him speechless.

Below Zero

When you freeze, wheeze or sneeze in the cold breeze, use tweezers to squeeze your nose.

Those, not these.

ELEMENTARY

Sherlock Holmes searched for the missing tealeaf behind a sheaf of wheat.

MARK HALE 13 - OAK HILL - 1973

UNFORTUNATELY

A Spanish boy on holiday in Balmain put too much strain on his chain, so now he has to catch the train back to Spain to have it repaired again.

O words

Whom did you speak to at ten past two? To Mrs Wolf, the mother of the seven Wolves, or Mrs Wombat whose husband designs tombstones?

EYES SEE

It always seems to teem with rain when he deems it necessary to see me.

After all

Don't be daft; this is only the draft of the raft made with rafters. What I want is a craft light as a waft complete with fore and aft, a waft and an engine grafted onto its shaft.

PEDIGREE

He green feeds and breeds cattle for beef on the Great Barrier Reef.

DEBORAH

WITHOUT DOUBLE BASS

The brass band passed through the glass door of our classroom and then onto the grass.

How can someone lose the sole of his shoe in a canoe if he can prove he didn't move.

Move- mobile (VB connection)

Joe's toes don't fit in his shoes
(shoe: Dutch schoen)

SHAKE BABY SHAKE!

When bullants crawled into the pants of one little toddler, the pram started to rattle like eggs in the boiling water of a coddler or like the dentures of dear old ladies engaged in their prattle and tattle.

Flu in the zoo

The staff put a scarf around the neck of the giraffe's calf and then gave it half a bucket of chaff. When everybody laughed, I took a photograph because I am a photographer.

Note: In Dutch, the L in half and half is pronounced

Silent L

Jack used calks to walk along the tall beanstalk to talk to his mother; he wanted some chalk to calk and calculate his fortune. When he saw the Ogre, he balked.

The swagman's dragon is only used for riding, not to pull a wagon.

It only feeds on mutton together with melon, lemon and Devon.

Last season, without any good reason, the swagman's son added some poison, so now the lad is in prison for treason.

Gee Whiz!

This ginger bread gent, a gentle genius because of his extra genes, used to tell us stories about genies while selling gems and gin in the local inn.

GUE

I remember vaguely an article in Vogue Magazine about the plague in the Hague in Holland affecting mainly some rogues who spoke with a brogue and organised car races with a drogue.

BARBECUE

This coach poaches loaches and roaches, before he approaches and broaches his cask to fill his flask.

Note brooch: many o-shapes (diamonds)

Don't Gloze over it!

When the bulldozer got stuck in the ooze,
the driver decided to go for a snooze.

However, he nearly froze when he started to doze off on his dozer.

HOLIDAY

Daisy Dent left her home in Kent to do some camping in a tent. She clambered the hills and dwelt in the valley, much like infamous Ned Kelly. The only thing she missed was to be kissed and her ice-cream with jelly.

Silent L

During the liturgical collection in the old malm coloured chapel, Albert Salmon put an almond instead of an alm into the palm of the old priest who, as if embalmed by the Palm Sunday psalm, stayed calm and made no qualms about it.

Note: in Dutch, the L is pronounced.

KITH NOR KIN

Peter Pumpkineater doesn't feel the cold, he hasn't got a heater.

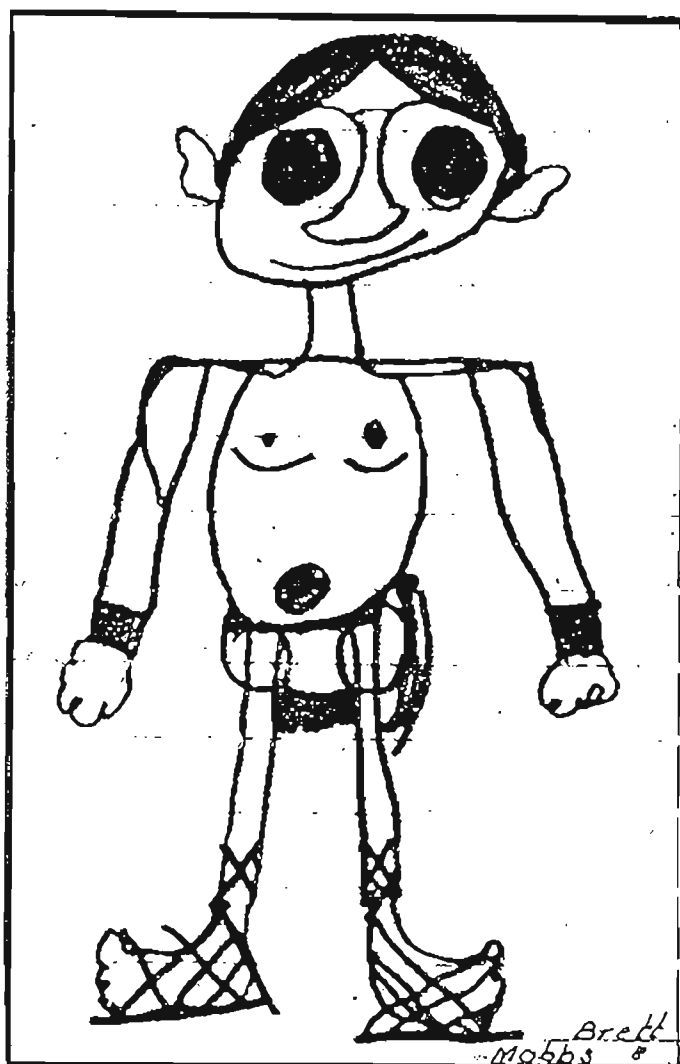

He never eats his dinner; his legs get thinner and thinner. Since he doesn't work for money, he can't buy shirt nor honey.

You would be absolutely wrong if you dared to call him strong.

Although his body doesn't look shoddy, it looks more like a butcher's banger attached to a coat hanger.

He might even be dead; instead of eyes, just holes right through his head.

He's not the type to have a sister or a brother; he might not even have a father or a mother.

FROM RICHES TO RAGS

Duchess Lily was born in a great, big castle in a place that was hilly. She used to ride her filly willy nilly whether the weather was warm or chilly.

Presently, she has a husband called Billy from Chile. They live in Greenwich where they grow organic spinach.

OA

The Romans roamed the loamy roads on at least one million stallions soaking in sweat and foaming as if lathered with soap.

CAUTION

The truck with the bucks and the ducks had no luck because it got stuck, so that was the cause of the pause.

By Jove!

Jove wove his way between a whole range of strange orange groves near Lane Cove because he loved above all to rove his Rover like a drover while his cloves throve at home where he strove to cook without oven or stove.

Jove loves his doves; when he moves them, he uses gloves to shove them with a shovel into the dove cote above (Dutch:boven) his hovel where he is writing a new novel.

Double O

When the noose is too loose, the goose will swim away to join the geese.

OH DEAR FRED!

After Fred had opened the door of his shed, he walked with his neb into a cobweb.

Troth

Since their mother used to always smother her twin sons, it had stunted the growth of both brothers Sloth. Although they were no bigger than the mammoth moth that fell from the cloth into their broth, it didn't bother the brothers nor their two others.

ADRIAN B

Whoo!

FLACK

Mack and Jack have a knack of riding black packhacks bareback on the track at the back of the shack.

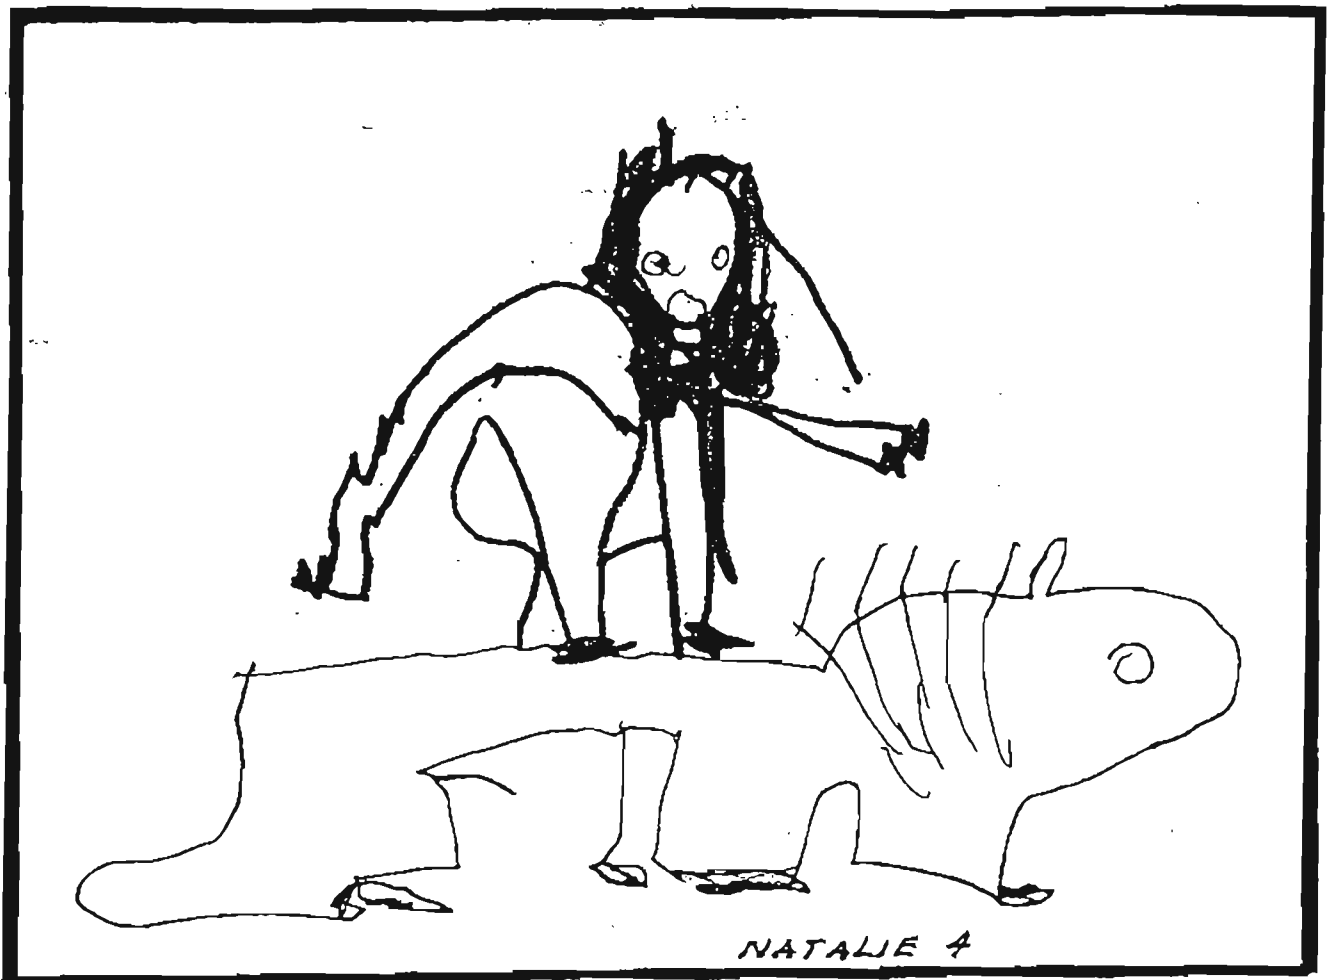

For lack of a rack, the tack is on a stack of sacks with snacks for the hacks.

No smacks or whacks for slack hacks, but the whip from the hip goes crack and the hooves go clack

Yes, but I can't very well ask them to get rid of the ants in the pantry.

AU

During their Australian autumn (autumnal) jaunt, the gaunt, flaunty and dauntless leprechauns like to taunt and haunt staunch supporters of people who vaunt late night suppers. They launch attacks at the flaunches of their haunches and paunches.

SCORN

Little Jack Horn was born in the morn under the thorn of a rose. He lived on corn, his jacket was worn and torn, his head was shorn with a pimple on his nose.

I would have sworn, he felt forlorn!

This alderman (older man) is bald because he lost his hair under the scalding hot water of his shower, not because he used his lawn mower to make it grow slower.

OPERA

Just before Dame Joan from Australia was about to go through the paraphernalia of getting on stage with Pavarotti the tenor whose voice can cause an earthly tremor, she nearly ripped her dress, which would have been a threat to their success.

DARTMOOR

When the Doctor opened the door of the one-room house on the moor, the poor man fell straight through a hole in the floor.

Relate: door, floor, room, roof.

SHOPPING

Once a month on Monday (Moonday), my mother, my brother, Mrs Smother and another mother with her son go to market to sell honey.

With the money, they buy onions, sponges, doves, gloves and shovels to shove wood into the stove to heat the oven.

OAD

There was load of toads (from tadpole) on the road, so a truck driver left his toadstool and chased them away with a goad.

BRAWL ON A TRAWLER

An awful lad went to sea with his dad. He talked with a drawl and scrawled graffiti on the wall. One day, he lifted the winch pawl of the yawl trawling for prawns in the raw. Captain Awl grabbed him by the shawl and sent him sprawling. Now the awful lad is crawling and bawling.

Joe's Woe

Joe's sloe-eyed roe slipped on an ice floe before she tripped over the hoe of Joe's foe which was even sharper than Joe's froe, so the poor doe cut her tow with a throe.

GREENSLEEVES

Last week, Zorba the Greek, dressed in his new golden fleece from Greece, looked rather sleek with red cheeks because he had a peek along Athens Creek to seek a spot where he could grow a green leek that wouldn't reek.

DOUBLE DUTCH

The bough fell down onto the plough stuck in the slough. Then, nothing was heard but the sough of the wind in the willows by the windows of the widows.

UNEXPECTED

Miss Cathy Cutter stepped out of her house without gutter in order to close the shutter. However, there was not a sound she could utter, mutter or even stutter when she heard her budgie splutter in a tub of real butter. Her hair stood on end because it was her best friend.

FOAMING WATER

High on the soaring waves with the roar of boars was the tiny boat with men pulling hoary oars.

FISHING TRIP (Excuse the pun)

Sir Robert Peel wound the wheel of his reel when he could feel a big eel underneath the steel keel of his boat. As he started to kneel down on his knee and peel the skin off the eel, he caught one heel in the hem of his coat.

Consequently, the boat heeled and Sir Robert Peel reeled with his creel into the moat, the silly goat. Since he couldn't swim, he didn't float. Worse! When water entered his hoarse throat – he had been yelling, you see – he started to bloat.

Ween and Weep

A girl of seventeen who weened she was the local beauty Queen, used to preen herself with Mr Sheen, that's how keen she had been to be seen on the T.V. screen. When she came thirteen, she was green with envy, so to vent her spleen, she hit the screen with a ballpeen between one and one fifteen in the canteen.

SOAP OPERA

RURAL DEITY

Legend has it that many years ago, an Irish Leprechaun by the name of Shaun was born when the sun was in the sign of Capricorn. Because of his goat's head, he lived amongst the fauna as a faun.

UNEXPECTED

The glutton undid his button to eat one tonne of mutton. But when he took of his socks to drink wine on the rocks, the bull behind gave him a butt in the buttocks.

DUST TO DUST

This funeral director had a tomb made to measure in the womb of Mother Earth for a rich Earl and his treasure from Perth.

DON'T SCARE THE ANIMALS

Mr McGoo tried to woo Mrs Kazoo from Waterloo. Since he wanted to marry her too, he took her out to the Zoo. They heard the cows moo and the doves coo, but when he said, "Boo!" and she said, "Shoo!" to Winnie the Pooh, ooh! Like a bush kangaroo, they hopped out of the Zoo with a bloody tattoo!

OOPS!

Barbara Hutton was a glutton who loved mutton. One day, she wanted to show us her new school bag. However, when she lifted her arms to take off the tag, all we could see was her belly button.

TALL TALE (Sea Chanty)

Hale and hearty Jonah haled his female whale (h for heavy) over the wale (gunwale) of his ship. A week later, he put her up for sale in Moss Vale where he eventually wanted to grow kale and dwale in the swale as well as build a large-scale shanty of shale, clay and bales of hay. Unfortunately, during a gale, his barbecue ignited a bale. Jonah turned pale when he couldn't inhale. Fortunately, he didn't die. Unfortunately there was no water, so with some stale ginger ale and sour cream from Devondale, he extinguished the flaming bale.

WATERGATE

When the goat, the stoat and the shoat jumped off the boat to soak their coat, water came into their throat. However, goats that troat, gloat over oats and then mix water with groats, bloat and float in the moat.

A DREADFUL DREAM

The headmaster dreamt that, at breakfast, in his lonely homestead, instead of spreading Meadow Lea and peanut spread on his unleavened kibbled wheat bread, the jealous and overly zealous teacher's aid named Heather, with a breast stroke, leapt from behind his Mexican hat with the stealth of a cat, just near his deaf ear. A threat to his job meant a threat to his health and to his wealth! Out of breath, so close to death, he felt the sweat in his feather-light sweater of leather, despite the cold weather...

Then the heavy blow of the lead in the deadly weapon, dealt across the full breadth of his head, lead him away into the realm of the dead: the notice ahead read: This is Heaven. Life hangs but on one thread; no retreads once you're dead.

WHEN THE PRICE IS RIGHT

The flier dropped his pliers into the fryer of the town crier to make them drier before finding a buyer bidding higher.

DEAR THEA (Easter Sunday)

I hear that each year, friendly, but fearful looking bearded teamsters clear the land near the rear of the shearing shed and appear in fancy gear, faces smeared, with ringed ears and spears, to sell yearlings in the searing heat. Afterwards, they disappear, dreary and weary and bleary eyed from tears.

DISASTER

The frail man failed to bail out his boat with only one sail because he had no pail. He had been in jail for sending drugs by airmail. Since there was no wind but only nail-shaped hail, the sailer went slower than a snail along its trail. The ailing sailor wailed like a quail without tail, but to no avail. After he had brailed up the sail, he went down like a drail.

COMMUNICATION

It's an impossible task to ask a question or drink out of a thermos flask while wearing a gas mask.

ONE MOUSE, TWO MICE
ONE LOUSE, TWO LICE

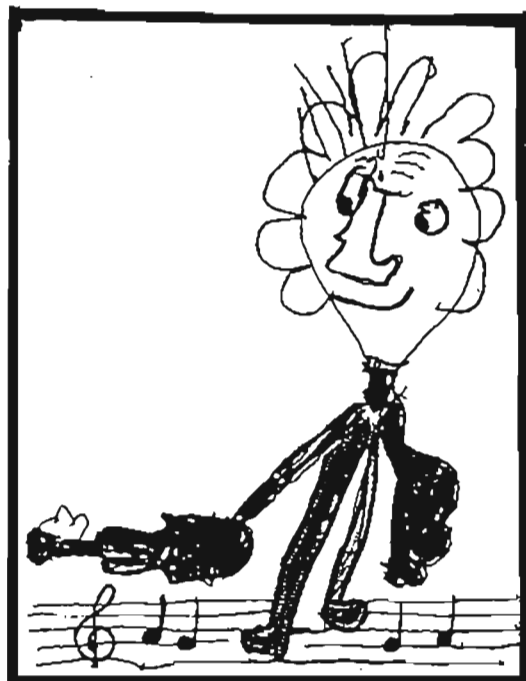

When Mrs Louse asked her spouse to get rid of a mouse, he hit the thing so hard that it shook the house.

MUSIC AND MAGIC

Paganini was a musician with the touch of a magician.

As soon as he would put his violin under his chin to let the concert begin, you couldn't even hear the drop of a pin.

THE HAWK HAS LANDED

Lawks! I don't like the way these wild, wide-winged hawks squawk and gawk.

Awkward!

SEA CHANTY

While the Captain of the Snowy Mountain was snoring causing the ship to shake at its mooring, the coxswain wanted to do some exploring while the waves for once were not roaring, and rain was not pouring. He had heard of the legend about a tortoise that had been courting a porpoise, the next of kin of a dolphin. They had a son who became the king of Taiwan.

UNIVERSITY TALK

(Just for the record)

A prudent student with shocking black stockings and ox-hide shorts used in all types of sports, implored on her own accord a Lord from Oxford to cut off her oxtails and foxtails with a sword in order to have her dignity restored because she could not longer afford to be ignored.

ACCIDENT

Brian and Adrian hit a pedestrian, a colossal man standing on a pedestal and singing hymns from a Biblical hymnal instead of a historical missal.

As a result of the accidental interval of his unusual ritual, the colossal man went to hospital where he received Medicare hospitality.

BRAVE ENDEAVOUR

Adriaan Bark, a boy from Australia jumped off his Taj Mahal in Maraylya. He wanted to see his Nan overseas and had asked his mum if he could go please. He swam and he swam till he reached the city of Amsterdam because he had crossed the Atlantic without being pedantic.

TRYING

A blowfly was flying too close to the sun. When it was drying and frying, it started crying before it was dying.

GARDENING

Miss Leopards of St. Leonards used to have an orchard underneath her porch which was rather awkward because she could hardly go forward or backward.

SURPRISE

One day, Little Red Riding Hood went again into the wood to take her father a biscuit although at first, she didn't dare to risk it. She felt better when it turned out to be sunny. Suddenly, she stopped and stood when she saw her good friend Little Bugs Bunny. "That's funny," Said Bunny, "I thought the wolf had eaten you for good!"

TO MAKE SURE

A staid maid from Maitland was afraid that she wouldn't be paid for the carpet she laid, so she dragged it away with the aid of her braid during a W.W. II air raid.

NO LUNCH

After a good night's sleep, Queen Catherine, wife of Rodney the Powerful of Berowra Heights, mother of Princess Louise, went riding. Her horse was doing well. They came first; that had never happened before.

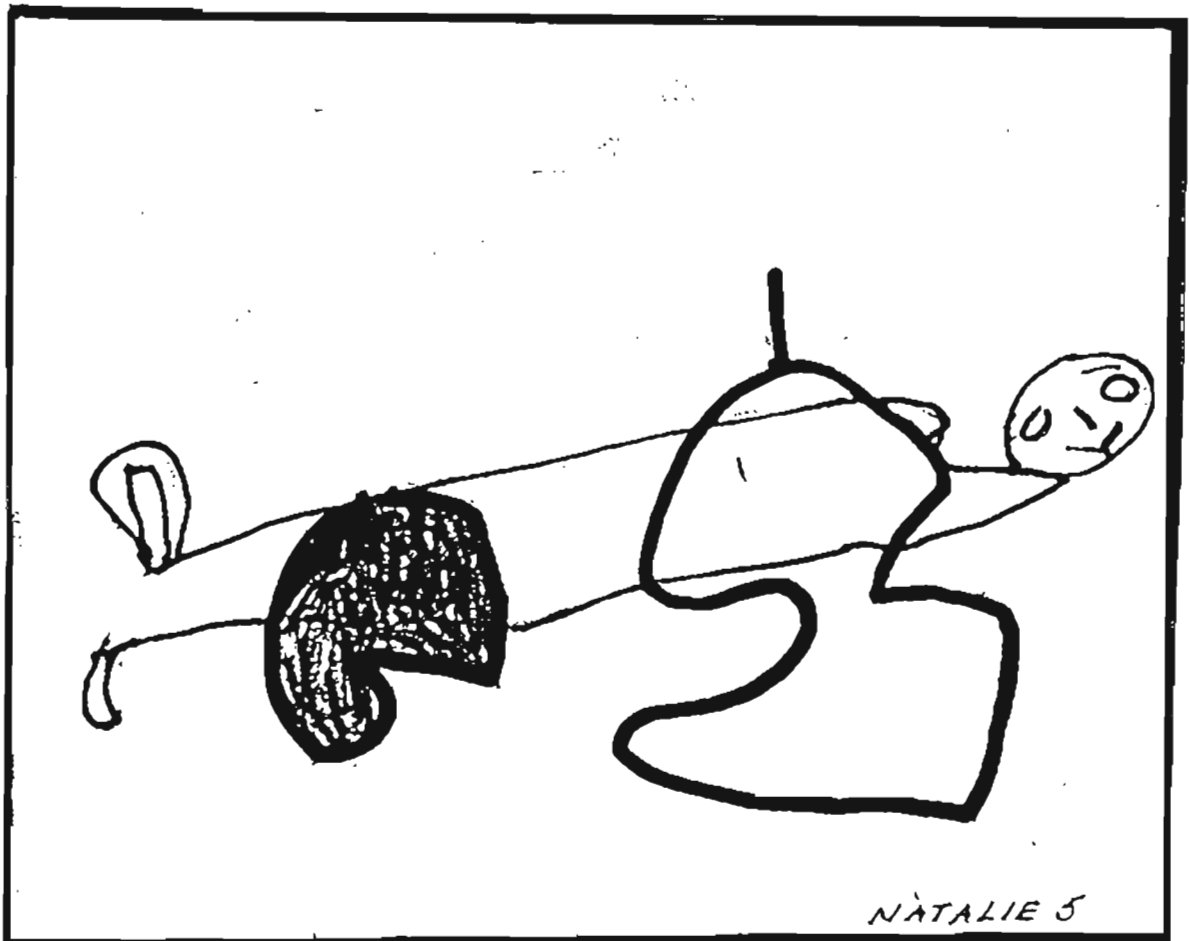

Her shirt was dirty, so she put a clean one on as well as a pair of shorts and sandals, before going outside to have a drink and a sandwich on the grass in front of the palace. You could tell that she was happy. She took a sip of orange juice out of her silver thermos flask and opened her lunch box to... "Help!" she called out. A little grey mouse with sharp teeth quickly crossed her hand.

The horse, afraid something had happened, strolled down and found that the Queen had fainted.

PEACHES AND CREAM

When we reached the beach,
our teacher, Mrs Preacher, gave us a peach each.

PLANE CRASH

Zany Jane and Shane the Dane nearly went insane when their plane hit the vane of a crane in a field with sugar cane. Just as their hopes began to wane, they saw a mare down the lane near the fane, so they jumped through the window pane and grabbed its mane.

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

The liar and the friar smoked a Briar.

ICE AGE

Our neighbour has eight neighing reindeer. At Christmas, he tightly holds the reins and drives his sleigh with sleight of hand to avoid a lonely skater. Despite their weight and height, they're faster than a freighter.

NECESSITY IS THE MOTHER OF INVENTION.

She tried on this and she tried on that,
but since she was too fat, she used a blanket from shoulder to ankle with anklet to go to a banquet.

FREAKISH TALE

Not only did they call him the Banana Man because of his nose as long as a banana from Ghana, but he was also born with a tail that looked like a garden hose, one of those that automatically close, and which he had to expose because it was too difficult to enclose.

One day, he asked his similar looking daughter Rose why she chose to dispose of one of his ripe tomatoes instead of spending time to compose a nice piece of prose.

YESTERYEAR

The rebels disturbed the grebe behind the Glebe.

HISTORICAL

“Land is nigh.” Said Captain

Bligh with a sigh, while he was standing in water thigh high.

THE PIED PIPER

The Pied Piper dropped his pie on his tie and then started playing his pipe to make the rats hie, lie down and die, and that's not a lie!

NOCTURNE

Owls scowl.

Dogs howl, yowl, growl or prowl and chase fowl with or without jowl.

RESOURCEFUL

A lass from Yass happened to miss the bus, so she took her ass to Sunday Mass. The priest was very cross and made a fuss because the ass made a mess, I guess!

DGE & IL

There was an old judge by the name of Jud Fudge who lived in an old fridge wedged in underneath an old bridge at Lightning Ridge. Although he had finished fighting evil for the local Council, the old devil, as thin as a pencil but with a will as strong as an anvil, made the pledge to always wear His Majesty's badge when leaving his makeshift lodge to go for a drive in his old dodge.

Funeral

One day, he went too fast so he didn't last to linger any longer. Although he had only bruised his finger while he cruised, he weakened instead of getting stronger.

SERENADE WITHOUT ACCOLADE

After the cancellation of the previous Federal Administration and the presentation as well as the inauguration of the new Minister for Immigration, Integration and Public Relation, there arose the obligation to scrutinise the information of each application to enter the Federation. If there appeared to be an indication or even the slightest inclination that, without discrimination, the white or coloured applicants lacked any formal education, vocation and cultivation, never received the required vaccination or had no paying occupation, they would be refused normal registration according to a special calculation prescribed in the regulations of a lengthy legislation.

Then, without any hesitation, justification, publication, declaration, arbitration, explanation or compensation, the unfortunate congregation, by way of consolation and ignoring any indignation, would be shoved, after intensive fumigation, into a military aircraft with a secret destination in a far-away location that could only be reached by aviation, in order to not unnecessarily increase the existing population. Apart from a suspected radiation and the subsequent intoxication, their separation and the absence of recreation resulted in the prolongation of their irritation and expectation.

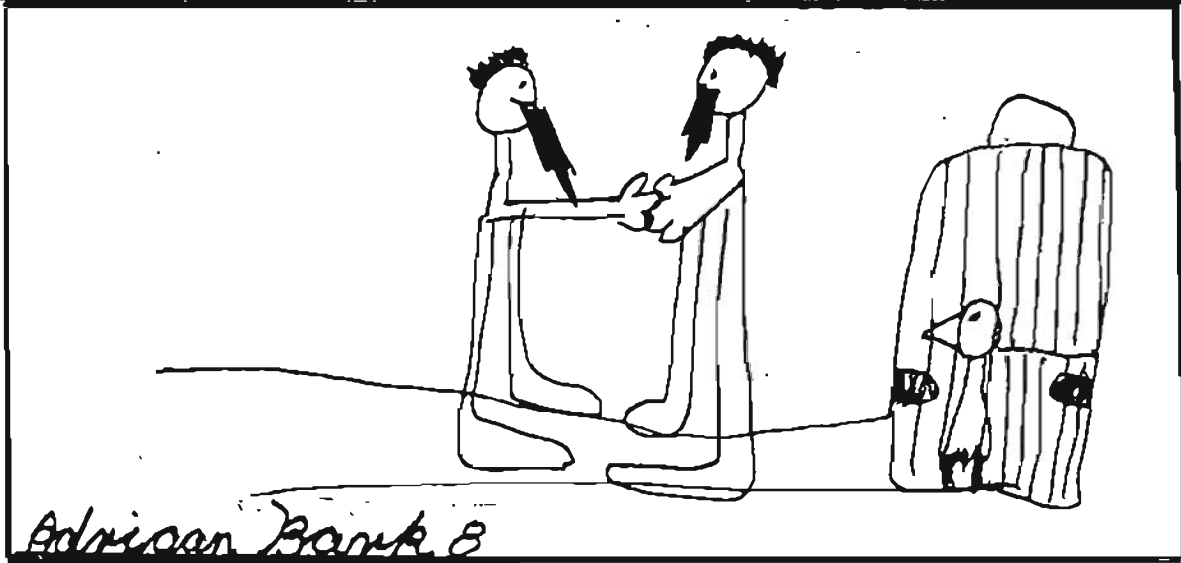

One day, owing to the combination of the limitation in the circulation of the imitation ventilation, the concentration of perspiration or transpiration, the condensation, the unhealthy sanitation and the subsequent constipation and the elevation in confrontation, the necessary allocation of air for their respiration and inhalation was never achieved, so the creation of an inflated agitation resulted in their final suffocation.

Although it had severely damaged his reputation, the Minister for Immigration went to hospital for observation and the subsequent preparation for an operation on his kidney in Sydney followed by a year's vacation on probation by invitation of the Minister for Taxation.

Thanks for teaching me,
but not parrot fashion.
